Important for people with visual impairments

Use good contrast
Make it easier to distinguish text, functions, and icons from the background.

Use more than colour alone
Combine text, form, and colour to convey information.

Place objects near content
Place instruction and action close to each other.

Use relative measurements
Use relative measurements in the code, as it must be possible to increase font size.

Let text be text
All text must be possible to copy, even text in images.
